

---

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Wooly Buzzer

Re: Wooly Buzzer

Author: : salvelinusfontinalis

Date: : 2006/9/30 11:24:34

URL:

ya its all about beadheads. in most currents you can cast a 10 buzzer upstream and start to retrieve 3/4 the way through the drift. allows you to use it as a streamer afterwards. you can dead drift a nymph and then fish an injured minnow or a crayfish. perhaps even a leech. it is the most versatile fly pattern. and its large and big trout like big flies! i catch natives on 10 to 12 buzzers. they love them too. personally i dont bother with strike indicators. unless its a dry. with the right tension you can feel it. hasent anyone catfished before 🍷 most streams i fish with wild trout i believe weights and indicators can spook fish, but thats not always true either 😊