

---

Subject: : Print, Video, Audio Discussions

Topic: : Tell all books: good or bad?

Re: Tell all books: good or bad?

Author: : rrt

Date: : 2009/1/15 12:01:43

URL:

I think they're bad, but I agree with some of the posters that the kiss-and-tell magazine pieces "advertising" one stream are much, much worse. I know of stream sections that got posted after mag. pieces regaled specific waters. I personally know landowners who fear too much traffic b/c of these pieces. I have seen fragile fisheries decimated b/c of these articles. Guys who fish to kill their limits can read, too. And, the authors of such pieces just don't care what their articles do to such places. To me, these writers rank right down there with Donald Beaver and the evil empire. I also fear the Internet posts about specific places. I fear they could have the same result as k/t magazine pieces.

(Farmer Dave et. al. -- Notice how restrained I was here. Remember "back in the day"?)