wetnet, my sister is 8 years my senior and we have been fishing buddies since childhood so i think your story is neat. Currently she still only fishes spinning gear but I'm working her up to fly fishing. I'm always surprised that more woman don't fish because those I've known that try it always have enjoyed it. In fact, every female member of my family enjoys fishing including my 55 year old mother whom I introduced to popper fishing for bass this past summer. She fell for it immediately and wouldn't stop requesting fishing trips throughout the summer. I've taken every girlfriend I've had since I was 16 and everyone seemed to enjoy it. Its probably for the best that more woman don't fish or the streams would be much more crowded than they are. Best for me anyways!
