Just got a copy of this new release written by Charlie Meck and Paul Weamer. Great reference book with mayfly, caddis, stonefly, etc hatches in chronological order, short information on each as to emergence, some recommended patterns, and a couple premier streams for a particular hatch.

Also some great photographs of each insect.

I'm gonna keep mine in the truck so it's always close. I was starting to make a chart for Penns as a tying guide to make sure I had each hatch. This book takes most of the work out of the effort.
