

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Selecting a rod to build

Re: Selecting a rod to build

Author: : beeber2

Date: : 2007/3/7 13:26:22

URL:

bigjohn58,

A Loomis GL3 kit would fit your price range nicely. My first build was a 7 and 1/2 foot 4-weight GL3, and I really like the rod and use it often. I don't know what action you prefer, but this rod is medium fast. If you're looking for something faster or slower, check out the Cabelas house rods. It is always advisable to try them out before your purchase, if possible.

beeber