

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Selecting a rod to build

Re: Selecting a rod to build

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2007/3/7 14:31:56

URL:

john, are you going to the jam?

I built a gl3 blank into a similar rod. I use for big biggers in the float tube. I think it would be perfect. I bought mine as a blem but i'll be darned if I can find anything wrong with it. If you are thinking yu may have to cast this a distance, you might go with single foot guides. If not...what ever the kit comes with would be fine.

If you're looking to do this before then...I'd still say, for the money its a good blank to build on.