

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Selecting a rod to build

Re: Selecting a rod to build

Author: : Joe

Date: : 2007/3/7 20:51:57

URL:

Quote:

bigjohn58 wrote:

What is the big difference between between the single foot and the double foot guides? Does the single foot really help with casting distance?

From my reading the main difference is weight. They both cast about the same however for every guide you wrap with a double foot you have twice the wrap and twice the flex coat. When dealing with a sensitive graphite rod any weight reduction helps. Also the single foot guides make your rod look that much more custom.