

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Selecting a rod to build

Re: Selecting a rod to build

Author: : JoeE

Date: : 2007/3/9 7:45:46

URL:

John,

I may be missing something but to me and my rod thinking and how I fish. I like a slow to medium rod taper for roll casting and a faster taper for dry fly and casting big streamers. I find with the faster rods I have to put more effort into a roll cast than a medium action taper. Now if your roll casting 30-40 feet with a big weighted woolly bugger then that is different. It sound like you want a cannon (fast as fast can be) but you want roll cast at the same time so I vote you go with the GL3 or Sage equivalent.

Joe E