As a[now] salt water fisherman who has to deal with serious things like sharp teeth and oyster beds and 30pd tippets[fish ain't that big but their fangs are]I can tell you that flour0 is flouro and mono is mono isn't quite accurate.Responsible companies formulate their tippet material differently than their lines.

They may use the same name for brand identification[example-vanish] but its not the same.Vanish by the way is considered one of the least reliable.
