I didn't know exactly where to post this.

I am planning on taking a little trip to Valley Creek this Saturday and am torn on what rod(s) to take. I was curious if a strike indicator would spook fish and turn them off, or if I should bust out the 10ft tenkara rod and high stick the runs.

I know the fish are skittish, and don't want to be ruined by an indicator and my small 3wt.

Every time I have fished Valley it has been on top, or after a rain and throwing small streamers.
