
Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Help: Erie Steelhead Fishing

Re: Help: Erie Steelhead Fishing

Author: : JustFish

Date: : 2009/2/24 11:56:48

URL:

March is a good month to go. I like fall better, however. Anyway if you have the luxury of planning a last minute trip that would be ideal. Erie's weather can change like that.

Fly wise....I hear streamers work good in the spring, however, I have never used them. Small egg patterns, sucker spawns in a variety of colors produce. If flows are low you might want to use a more natural pattern like PT's, stoneflies and picket pins.

A 7 wt is a perfect rod for Erie.

Fly shop you can go to is Poor Richards Bait and Tackle

Good Luck!

Here is my favorite pattern! Although, I think it is more about the drift than the pattern. Remember, they are BIG DUMB TROUT IN FROM THE LAKE!!!

Attach file:

 evb.jpg (0.00 KB)