

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Help: Erie Steelhead Fishing

Re: Help: Erie Steelhead Fishing

Author: : Squaretail

Date: : 2009/2/25 11:34:31

URL:

What I did was print the maps off of Poor Richards website. I then went there BEFORE I fished and asked them what stream would be good for the day. When they told me which, I pulled out the map of that stream and asked them where.

The man pointed,

I went,

I caught'em.

Cloudy water or dark light, eggs and spawn.

Clear water or bright light, nymphs and woolybuggers.

When they get tight lipped, switch flies as often as possible. Try every goofy fly you can find from the darkest corners of your flyboxes.

Dont sweat it, you'll catch atleast one even if you do everything wrong. A report would be nice.