

Subject: : Stream Reports

Topic: : Tulpehocken Creek, Berks Co., 2/28/09

Re: Tulpehocken Creek, Berks Co., 2/28/09

Author: : jayL

Date: : 2009/3/2 21:46:03

URL:

Quote:

Woolybugger wrote:

If you love the trout, then why not dispose of the stinkin' herons?

A crossbow is silent. Set some traps where the trout eating birds walk and club them and throw them in the bushes.

Or, carry a compact 22 pistol when you go fishing.

Every heron eats a half dozen small trout every day, and when you see a lot..... they are eating pretty good.

If you smash the barbs on your flies and catch and release only, then why not help the trout even more?

And don't tell me that it's against the law. If the laws have to be changed, maybe someday they will..... but now it's up to the dedicated anglers who have to do the right thing.

Attach file:

 Che-Guevara-01.jpg (11.08 KB)

