I'm not sure which book was first (it was quite a while ago), but I have a few still on my shelf when when I was a kid beginning the sport in the 70's.

Rising Trout by Fox

In the Ring of the Rise by Marinaro

Meeting and Fishing the Hatches by Meck

The Angler's book on Fly-tying and Fishing by Goldberg

The Masters on the Dry Fly edited by Michael Migel

The Caddis and the Angler by Solomon and Leiser

Selective Trout by Swisher and Richards

Chaucy Lively's Flybox (Autographed)

Honestly, I haven't bought a book on the subject since then. The library and the internet are full of inexpensive information. (Yes, I'm cheap---oops! Thrifty!)
