

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : march brown & gray fox

Re: march brown & gray fox

Author: : dryflyguy

Date: : 2007/3/15 16:22:56

URL:

I've been fishing both hatches for quite some time - I'm still convinced there are some notable differences in them.

A march brown is larger and darker.

I tie my March Brown's on #10 hooks - using brown mallard flank for wings, cream colored body, black tail, and brown and grizzly hackle.

I tie Gray Fox on #12 hooks- using undyed mallard flank for wings - gray, gray tails, yellowish body, and ginger and grizzly hackle