Lots of great guys in the Lancaster county area that would be willing to help you out. pm sometime and maybe I can point you in the right direction.

That being said, I've put in a lot of time with boots on the ground over the last six years. Also studying maps, doing research and scouring the PAFBC website for resources that would help me pinpoint areas with wild fish. See the homepage for a write up from Swattie detailing exactly how to go about doing this.

Access is generally very good for fishing however quality waters are few and far between. Temper your expectations and it will be that much sweeter when you find yourself a nice population of wild trout.

As for gear, it's more about feel and function vs cost. Use what your comfortable with and slowly build your inventory. Check the swap forum for deals. Sometimes people are very generous and give things away.
