Haha, that's great! I was fishing the same setup! Snipped the dropper off once we got up the left branch, the Brookies up there were just hitting the dry.

Good it fished well for you guys. Like I said, that was the only day that was out of pattern from the rest of the trip. Maybe it was coming off of just being fished the day before, though there were no vehicles there and no one fishing the day we did.

Everything else all week fished like Hammersley sounds like it did for you guys. We got 50ish on a nearby, similar sized stream the day before. I only fished dries that day and still caught 2:1 Browns to Brooks. One of my best days ever up there.
