Do you fish your woolly buggers with bead heads or no. Also do you usually drift them or strip them? I've had a little success doing both.

Yes to everything. If the water is clear, I use a bugger with weight tied in. In more off color water i'll use a bead. I strip and dead drift depending on the fish want. Usually I do a combination, where I'll dead drift but add a little movement to the fly by stripping once or twice then back to a dead drift.
