Could be that the RT were from the preseason as well since there was a shortage of RT going into the 2018 stocking period. SE stockings from Huntsdale on a number of waters were either all Browns or close to it. And with the good flows and perhaps cooler water temps for much of the summer anglers may find many more holdovers and RT this winter before freeze-up sets in. In my view this is a golden opportunity to get out there and abandon the vice while the relatively warm weather and good flows last.
