how do you improve something that is already good. tippet rings. baloney. you fell for it. tippet rings. known as jump rings to the jewelry makers. get them from a jewelry catalog. fire mt. gems. 1/5 of what the fly outfits charge

The jumps rings from jewelry/craft supply are not really that well suited for fishing. They are soft metal, and the soldered joints fail.

I've tried the ones from fire mt to be specific.

For what it's worth, I don't understand why tippet rings are so expensive and sold in such small quantity. The companies selling them could do just as well selling more of them at a lower price, maybe even do better. After all, they are a consumable product, the more people use them the more they will buy. $7+ for 10 or whatever is outrageous. They are very convenient and useful for nymphing but i think the cost keeps some people away.
