Big Y is good. I also just started tying my own. IMHO, don't try buy tying materials at craft stores and such. It's false economy. The real materials are mostly the same price. Id also say avoid buying online until you know what you're doing, it's a good way to spend money on the wrong stuff and the shipping is too expensive. I went to the local fly shop and told him what I wanted to tie and, turns out more importantly where I wanted to fish and he set me up with just the right materials for very reasonable prices. Even gave me a couple flies for free to copy.
