That's pretty close. But here is a more explicit statement:

If I cared about a $200 difference in rod price I'd already be way over my head in spending $550 on a fly rod. Or, looked at from the other angle, if I had so much money that I would spend $550 for a rod, I certainly wouldn't find an extra $200 a big issue, or rather any issue at all. As I noted, this attitude flows from my being one of the biggest cheapskates I know.
