

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Line wt debate

Re: Line wt debate

Author: : fishrich

Date: : 2009/3/26 21:40:35

URL:

Wow !!! Looks like I started a good debate! A little info , I fish a three wt 7'6" cabelas three forks bought for 80 $. I have since upgraded the reel and line. The rod is medium action.I was thinking of buying a Sage Txl or Flight, cost permitting(If the wife says yes). I have been fishing about two yrs . Locally I fish Valley Creek and French creek and acrost the state I fish the Yellow Breeches and Big Springs and the Letort. I have a cabin in clinton county around Young womens creek and plan to hit all of the other famous central pa streams up that way.I am thinking of a 8'6" or 7'10" fr the lenth but have not settled on a wt.

What my thought process is to have the rod be soft enough to present drys and heavy enough to throw a dry and a dropper or a tandum nymph rig or streamer. I am thinking 4 but still like the input

Thanks, Tight Lines,

Fishrich