

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Windpower

Re: Windpower

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2009/4/9 8:47:00

URL:

Why does it have to be 100% one or the other. Lessening the demand and prolonging the supply for one by using another to any degree has no down side.

Coal is home grown and I have no trouble using it. But if we can use the wind, which BTW does not need to be mined, shipped, burned and cleaned up after, how can that be bad? Even the coal companies are getting into generating power by other means. Natural gas is another home grown power generator with less harmful effects. You still have to go get it and transport it but it burns much cleaner.