

---

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Overrated Trout Streams

Re: Overrated Trout Streams

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2009/4/9 10:24:10

URL:

Here's the list I posted earlier:

Tully

YB

Spruce

LL

Lehigh River (sorry LHregular)

Beaverkill (NY)

Ausable (NY)

To sum it up, stocked fish is the main reason I believe these streams/rivers as overrated. I just can't get excited about them, and driving a hundred or more miles to fish some of these streams doesn't make sense for me even if they have great hatches. Also the LL, YB, and the Tully are way too crowded most of the time.

The one exception on the list is the Lehigh River, the fish are usually nice, but the River has an on/off switch. I think the releases have a lot to do with that. Also the number of rafters on some sections takes away from some of my enjoyment.