

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Monocacy looking good

Re: Monocacy looking good

Author: : AlwaysWading

Date: : 2009/4/10 16:11:45

URL:

Once again we are treated to nothing other than a fluff piece by the PFBC. Two things need to take place on that stretch of the Monocacy.

First it needs to be C&R fly fishing only. No more spinning, which in that stretch of water tends to bring in people with live bait.

Next there needs to be more enforcement, to catch the very people who fish with live bait and keep everything they catch, no matter what the size is.

Add in one more rather important item. Go upstream of the bridge where the photo on the bio report is and you will find the eastern stream bank stripped bare by a property owner. Trees, undergrowth, all taken out as the attempted to place a little picnic area there, with signs meant to keep fishermen out. Since when does a property owner have the right to strip a stream bank bare? Where is not only the fish commission but DER, both who should have fined the property owner, along with reminding them they do not own the property as it is a railroad right of way. Until those in charge get serious, get off their lazy rumps and perform a job function for they pay their receive, the Monocacy will not be the shining star they claim it to be; which is actually was about three years ago.