Why should I be outraged that someone wants to open up some of our forests to drill for natural resources? Do I want clean water, sure, good hunting, sure, good fishing, yes.

But do I want to stop those who supply the very materials we require to live comfortable, and there is no reason to do that to begin with. Our forests can be entered, drilling can take place, all without the total destruction some like the Sierra Club claim.

Who causes more damage and is more of a threat to the United States, those supplying our natural resources or those fighting to prevent any advancement. The answer is simple and it isn't the oil and gas companies.
