

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Why?

Re: Why?

Author: : Chaz

Date: : 2007/3/27 15:34:06

URL:

First of all fingerling stockings of trout in PA have met with little success, they just don't survive well and make it to adulthood. The practice seems to have greater success in tailwaters, however not in the Tully. Anglers are very finicky by nature and complain that there aren't enough fish, when there are they complain about the small size, if it isn't that then it's they didn't put any in my favorite hole and on and on ad nauseum.