Which chest pack have you fished with, and what made it "awkward?"

Admittedly, none, which is why I specified that it "just seems like" it would be awkward; mostly because I'd hate the feeling of having it sitting on my stomach all day long. Its just not something I feel drawn to, and would much prefer to just the vest to distribute it around my body (although, most of that weight will get borne by the neck and shoulders as well).

Anyways, this is Ernie's thread, not mine, I was just confused why someone would buy someone else's grungy old vest when new ones were cheap.
