This page link shows a variety of styles of strike indicators (or bobbers grumble-grumble). Unlike a traditional Bobber, they are designed with flycasting in mind.

The "Thingamabobber" seems to be the latest greatest evolution of the strike indicator, I know they are my favorite. Any of these styles can be bought at your local fly shop, a big box store, or many places online.

I'm not pushing the site I linked to, they just happened to have a page showing a nice variety.
