

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Chest Box

Re: Chest Box

Author: : Maurice

Date: : 2006/10/12 13:00:05

URL:

Joe...your problem could be solved with a drill, chord and one of your old plastic boxes for alot less than $90.

Another problem I see with this box is its really just an Wheatley knockoff by Okuma. So the compartment wouldn't work for salt. You'd have to go with the the ripple or flat foam

Seriously, All this is is a harness ($10) with a Wheatley Knock off fly box velcroed to it. on a little angle iron and halfpipe for holding the rod. One nice thing the one I saw had was the floatant holders ($6 ea) and I think it had a couple zingers. Oh and a pouch for leaders.

I figured I could put terrestrials and caddis in it with a bottle of floatant for summer fishing. Carry other boxes in my fishing shirt pockets...I guess it would suit your use too. Just seems designed for small flies and trout.