

Subject: : Paflyfish General Forum

Topic: : Zebra Midges

Re: Zebra Midges

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2009/4/24 7:35:49

URL:

The previous posters have pretty much covered the bases and I can't really add much.

For sizes and tying, I try to keep my ZMs very slender. I think the key is a strong contrast between body color and ribbing. When I'm searching with a larger nymph, I like a larger ZM, say about #18. For technical presentations that involve sight fishing to fish clearly feeding on midges, I think it's a good time to go smaller, about #24 or so.