I had 555 on a rod and I ended up taking it off it lasted no longer then any other line I've ever used. I've tried the SA Mastery Series also and was not overly impressed. I like a stiffer line for roll casting because I nymph 90% of the time at least. The SA Mastery series was way too flimsy for my taste. I prefer the Cortland 333 WF for like $20. I might be dumb again someday and try one of those high end lines but so far in my opinion its not worth the cost. With the way I go fishing within at least 1 year of use the line is all cracked and needs replaced whether it cost $60 or $20.
