

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Cortland 555 Rocket Taper

Re: Cortland 555 Rocket Taper

Author: : Padraic

Date: : 2006/10/13 9:06:34

URL:

I'll hop on the bandwagon for the Cortland 333 over the 444 and 555 (in that order).

If you want a good shooting head, try the Wulff Triangle Taper. It's a very supple, long lasting line that has a loooooong shooting taper. If you want to cast short, it lands softly. If you want to throw 60', the back end of the front taper will carry a lot of line. (I'll add this caveat, long casts are not my forte' so you may want to try the line yourself)