

Subject: : Gear Talk

Topic: : Waders - Recommended Brands and Winterizing

Re: Waders - Recommended Brands and Winterizing

Author: : afishinado

Date: : 2006/10/14 11:06:51

URL:

Greenlander,

I have long since retired my neoprene waders. I use Orvis Pro Guide waders in the cold weather and they work just fine. One thing to remember is to size them based on wearing heavy clothes. Measure your chest and waist size based on wearing winter clothes. Also allow extra room for heavy socks in your boots. I'm a size 10 boot but use a size 11 wading boot for that reason.

One other thing, subscribe to Orvis on-line. They constantly have sales and send coupons via e-mail for dollars off on purchases. I have an Orvis owned outlet store a few miles from where I live (located in Downingtown). I bought my waders at 50% off on sale at the Orvis outlet. If your item isn't in stock, have them ship it to the store and pick it up there with no shipping costs.