What dates? whats hot in june may not be in july or august

what is your favorite way of fishing?

do you have experience on big rivers?

are you pretty good or want something easier?

can you afford a guide?

what equipment do you have?

ponders-

out of the park below Quake lake the Madison has about sixty miles of fairly shallow constant riffles good for visiting anglers not use to big rivers but fish aren't going to run as large as rivers with deep holds-but these can be tough on outsiders

june you may have high run off so need to pick your river

August can be dog days

On your way up to glacier the Missouri can have some world class dry fly fishing but you would do best with a guide to show you the ropes outsider can waste days fishing whitefish rises.

you have smaller rivers like the big hole in its upper reaches-can be a blast around 4th july for a variety of fish-
