In my opinion- you should become familiar with this website.

If you are going to hire a guide- you will want to contact a fly shop to get suggestions. If you dont know of any fly shops- just google the name of the town and fly shop.

For example: Ennis MT fly shops

If you do go with a guide I would contact him asap and start picking his brain. There is a guy on here flybop who is a guide in MT- lives close to the Yellowstone River- which is close to where you have listed as one of your destinations.

My advice is try to stay in one or places and fish a few streams or rivers. MT is a huge state and you could spend a ton of (wasted) driving around.

Good luck- you could spend a whole summer just in Yellowstone and still not fish all the water available.
