The major problem with off set hooks for flys is they will make the fly lay over on its side..thats why hooks for flies are straight...if not we could use any bait style of hook on the market..You might not notice it as much on smaller flies but its there. Also bending those small hooks will make them more prone to breakage. if you want to bend a hook a circle hook style will give better hookups. just tie on a larger hook (1 size larger but keep fly small aka; low water style)
