

Subject: : Conservation

Topic: : Windpower

Re: Windpower

Author: : tomgamber

Date: : 2009/5/14 16:27:47

URL:

Quote:

franklin wrote:

Chaz, if you put solar panels on the roof of the average house in Pa you would only generate enough power on average to run your toaster oven for two hours a day.

Not true...more lies from the naysayers...while it'll cost you some green, a reasonably sized 6.5 kw unit will reduce you consumption by 85% and you will recoup the cost in about 5 years.

You should stop reading the propaganda an try looking it up yourself. My post comes from my morning paper...the one that hates enviro-wackos but prints stories that prove its opinions to be lies.