CM_Stewart,

I hadn't thought about the fact that it wouldn't be considered fly-fishing in PA - I would never have even thought about checking into that.

So how hard is it to land fish? It seems like it would be a little tricky.

I'm pretty fascinated by the simplicity - and the portability.

I'm heading to Rocky Mountain National Park this summer for a family vacation and a Tenkara set-up seems perfect for the small streams in RMNP.

Do you know how quality of the Tenkara USA rods compare to other Tenkara rods that you are familiar with?

Thanks
