I just wore out a pair of Red Ball (I think) bootfoot hippers late this year after about 10 years of use. I used to wet wade all the time in summer, but then I decided to decrease my chances of picking up a tick or whatever else by just slipping on the hippers when I am fishing smaller streams and bushwacking or even just walking through the woods to a stream. I have an Orvis coupon but found that they don't make a bootfoot. I'm on the lookout for a fairly inexpensive bootfoot hipper. Red Ball was worth the money. Anyone have a suggestion?
