I just think it would be one of the stupidest things I could imagine, regardless of whether brook trout were the indigenous resident of record in the region or not.

Dear RLeep,

I agree wholeheartedly. It would be just as stupid to that here in PA as well.

Right now in Wisconsin the debate about brown trout removal is pretty much limited to a few passionate defenders of the brook trout and the State has no inclination to do it according to my buddy. Those beautiful browns are safe for now!
