

Subject: : Fly Tying

Topic: : Green drake comments requested.

Re: Green drake comments requested.

Author: : Fishidiot

Date: : 2009/5/28 8:55:17

URL:

They look good to me. I'm curious about the "thingamabobber." Is this a strike indicator? It looks like there is a fly tied in there - is this a visibility spinner for night fishing to surface feeders? It might be easier to tie in a visibility post of closed cell foam, harden the surface with some epoxy or polyurathane, and then paint it with the glow-in-the-dark paint/fingernail polish.

I'd be interested in hearing your reports and opinion regarding the success/effectiveness/practicality of this fly.