I don't think breathable hip boots are worth it also.

I have a cheap pair of rubber boot foos - proline i think - that are about 5 years old and still in great shape.

I've been out on the hottest days, and never been uncomfortable.

Most of the small streams that I use them on are well shaded anyway. Also, I'm usually in rugged terrain - walking thru thick brush. And many times I'm sneaking up to pools on my knees.

I would probably ruin breathables very quickly
