I always nymph with 2 flies. I tie the dropper to the eye of the first fly hook and normally put weight between the 2 flies.

This is certainly not the most advanced or prettiest way but it is effective. People spend time making dropper lines off tag ends etc... but truthfully of the guys I fish with that use those methods I catch as many as the do. For me, the best solution is always the most simple.

I know, I know- no weight on the line yatta yatta. Must be those competition types- aggggh.
