

---

Subject: : Tips and Tricks

Topic: : Favorite tandem/ threesome

Re: Favorite tandem/ threesome

Author: : KillerFlyz

Date: : 2009/6/13 1:22:54

URL:

I tie my tandem rigs using palomar knots. I'll try to explain this the best I can. I usually fish a 2 fly rig but have had success with 3, just depends on what i'm seeing in the water. Top fly would be an emerger, next would a larger bead head nymph, bottom fly would be a small larva pattern. I tie the top fly on using a palomar knot, make sure the tag end is plenty long. At least a couple feet because I will be tying 2 more flies on this same piece. Keep the tag end of the first fly intact (do not snip it) Move about half way down it's length and tie in you second fly using another palomar knot. Keep the tag end intact and tie in your final fly however far you want it from your middle fly. I usually tie my final fly on with a loop knot.(surgeons loop, non slip loop, whatever you like best.