Strike indicator as in the euphemism for bobber. I don't recall if it was that same article, but do clearly recall the point. If an angler was detecting strikes by means of some item that did not interfere with presentation, I don't think it would fit the point just because they decided to dilute the definition of strike indicator to capture things other than fly fishing bobbers.

PS, Jay, I cinch my wading belt tightly and hold my breath just as tightly when I undo it.
