I know I suggested the outback. I drive a 2-door Blazer, because I rarely have a passenger, but a 4-door Blazer is inexpensive and gets low 20's on the highway. So what you save in cost could pay for the small amount of extra gas (about $1.50 per tank). My two fits my 8'6" fine, and would fit a 9' in the middle of the seats; so a 4-door would definately hold a 9'. A Trailblazer has an in-line 6 and about 270 horse power, is garrenteed not to role, and gets mid 20's for gas.
