Chaz is right and he knows more about this subject than he is saying right now. In fact, he might be understating a little hedging his bet (both are my opinion). Studies are showing that the original strains are much more intact than a lot of people had previously speculated. that's right. What Tups said is the side that is based ENTIRELY on speculation and anecdotal information.

How many of you actually read that white paper? Taps ... err ... I mean Tups, did you read it?

As far as your withering problem, take the blue pill.
