Wow what a heated convo.

If anyone is still listening...I primarily fish 6x but in Flouro. And very rarely see the need for 7x. The only time I might use 7x is for tricos on the LL.

I find that the flouro eliminated the need for lighter tippet and is well worth the $$.

I don't listen to anything they say at the LL flyshop. This thread has gotten dirty enough so I won't sling any more mud.

Do your own thing...spend time figuring it out on your own and it will pay off.
